

Slate Quarrying in and around Maenclochog

References and Sources

Tucker, G and M, 'The Slate Industry of Pembrokeshire and its Borders', Industrial Archaeology Review, 3 (1979), 203-27

Tucker, G and M. 'The Old Slate Industry of Pembrokeshire and other parts of South Wales' National Library of Wales Journal XXIII (1983), 141-74

Richards, A.J. The Slate Quarries of Pembrokeshire, (Llanrwst: Carreg Gwalch, 1998)

Pembrokeshire Record Office, Haverfordwest – particularly HDX/949/1 – results of investigation carried out by Gordon and Mary Tucker (above) in the 1970s and 80s

Internet sources – go the Mining History Pages at - www.people.exeter.ac/pfclaugh/mhinf/contents.htm

Most of the quarries in the Maenclochog area, even the Rosebush quarries, are on private land although some are crossed by public rights of way – seek permission before you enter.

The author –

Peter Cloughton
Blaenpant Morfil

01437 532578

P.F.Claughton@exeter.ac.uk

